WELCOME

Little did I realize when I ended last year's sale catalog letter with the words, "If you can't make it to the sale, be sure to watch on DV Auction." that we would have a complete white-out blizzard on sale day with 38 people in the stands, which included family and the sale crew, auctioneer and some ringmen. However, 743 of you logged on to DV Auction to watch the sale and you can bet that I have looked that list over many times in the past few months wondering just what you thought as you saw the cattle come through the ring with so much snow packed on them they could hardly see. The one thing I can say is, we can't thank you enough for your support! It is truly appreciated and we are humbled by the whole experience.

Right now as you are reading this letter, I hope that you will join me in raising your hand above your shoulder and give yourselves a pat on the back. We have all survived this past year – from blizzard after blizzard, to droughts, fires and sever summer storms across the country. We also need to remember that we are so lucky to live the lives we lead involved in the agriculture industry. I was reading an article on a family the other day that stated how, as farmers and ranchers, we have so much faith and may not even realize it. We have faith that tomorrow will be better, we will get enough rain, that we can make it through another blizzard, drought or flood, that the sun will shine, the crops will grow and livestock will survive. We often forget how important a role we play in the world and that our "job" is just as important as everyone else's. We need to be proud of what we accomplish every day of the year and take a little time to reflect on how much we have survived on pure faith, whether you realized it at the time or not.

Like I said, last year I could talk about the cattle markets or what we think of the cattle in the sale, but as we stated last year we wouldn't have a sale if we didn't believe in these cattle. Our son Alex (who enjoys judging livestock for SDSU) keeps trying to pick the top show heifer prospect out of the group of heifers and last weekend he finally came to this conclusion: "I think you could throw a halter on any one of those heifers and be competitive. You may not win every show, but you will compete." The best part about it is we know these girls will also make good cows.

The sale will be held at the Ramada Inn via video. The cattle will be on display at the ranch the days prior to the sale. We realize that it is a little different to buy cattle via video when they aren't located at the auction site, however we wanted to make it more family-convenient by having the whole day's activities at the hotel. If you are flying into Aberdeen and need transportation to the ranch, please give us a call. We encourage you to come out and look at the cattle and pick out your top cattle and then have some alternates in mind in case you don't get the ones you wanted. If you have questions or comments, please call one of us.

We invite you to spend the day and evening with us even if you aren't interested in purchasing cattle. What more could you want than to spend New Year's Eve with your friends and fellow ag enthusiasts. We know you are busy just as we are, but you never know what tomorrow will bring, so take a little time and enjoy yourself on New Year's whether it is with us or at home with your families.

Our passion for cattle runs deep as we both grew up on farm/ranch operations. We work at our dream job and rely on our faith for the rest! The sale will be broadcast on DV Auction. See you in Aberdeen!
